America To Call World Meeting, Berlin Hears

Correspondent Says Meeting To Be Held At Request Of Britain

OFFICIALS DENY REPORT

United States Did Utmost To Bring Settlement, Washington Declares

By Associated Press
London.—The Berlin correspondent of the Central News says that he learns from a well informed source "that in accordance with a request made by the British on Wednesday the United States government intends to call an international conference in Washington next week to consider the reparations deadlock."

The British foreign office denied Friday afternoon that it had requested the United States to call an international conference on reparations as reported by the Central News correspondent.

WASHINGTON MAKES DENIAL

Washington.—Advices that the American government acting on the request of Great Britain would call an international conference for the consideration of reparations question met with the positive and authoritative statements from officials of the state department that "there is no truth to it."

DID ITS UTMOST

Washington.—The United States government has already done all it can do to point away to solution of the reparations crisis, it was stated authoritatively Friday. Secretary Hughes' suggestion contained in his New Haven speech, made in the friendliest spirit, it was said, is before the French government, from which any action to be taken up by the financial commission plan must come of necessity.

It was made clear that the Washington government could not issue any invitation for the creation of such a commission because control of the reparations situation is not in American hands but in those of the Allies. There is no disposition in Washington, it was added, to seek to force the financial commission or any other plan upon the Allies.

It was pointed out that the Allies even before the Paris meeting of Premiers assembled, had been fully advised as to American views and willingness to help through the medium of Secretary Hughes' speech at New Haven.

Paris.—Although divided by the German reparations issue upon which Great Britain and France split at Thursday's Allied conference, Premier Poincare and Premier Bonar Law met Friday for discussion of other questions on friendly terms.

The French premier called on the British premier and the two were together for a half hour discussing the Near Eastern situation and fields of action other than reparations, in which France and Great Britain may cooperate.

The two prime ministers had an other 20 minute talk on the railway station platform just before the mid-day train left with the British delegation for London on board.

Two minutes before the train left Mr. Bonar Law stepped into his private car and stood at the window with M. Poincare on the platform below. The two premiers, smiling at each other, exchanged a word now and then until the train drew out, when Mr. Bonar Law waved his hand and bowed and M. Poincare lifted his hat and called out "bon voyage."

CABINET MEETS SATURDAY
It is understood that Premier Bonar Law will preside at a meeting of the British cabinet in London Saturday. British officials said England would probably await events, now that France had resumed her liberty of action.

It was denied in British circles that any member of the British delegation had said Great Britain would make a formal protest in the event France went into the Ruhr.

But there was no definite indication given that the British government would not make such formal protest. It was decided authoritatively that Great Britain expects France to hold anything she may seize in Germany as trustee for all the Allies. This is in accordance with expressions in a recent speech by M. Poincare, and a British spokesman said Friday he had seen nothing since to change the situation in this respect.

Mr. John Bradbury, British member of the reparations commission, said the report that he would refuse to sit in the commission when it met to consider the German default in 1922 coal deliveries, was inaccurate. He said he had only refused to sit if the reparations commission met during the allied conference. Now that the date of the meeting had been fixed for Saturday he added, he was ready to participate.

Complete Investigation Into Mysterious Death Of Man Near Waupun

By Associated Press
Waupun.—The investigation of the mysterious circumstances surrounding the death of Willie J. Peters, whose body was found in an old well on a farm several miles from this city last Saturday, has been completed and the next move of officials of Fond du Lac will be made when state pathologists have determined whether the vital organs contain poison.

Many persons have been questioned in connection with the death of the young farmer. A number of these persons have been consistent in their stories, but several others have told different stories on different occasions when questioned by investigators, it is said.

Peter it became known during the last 24 hours had an enemy in the community in which he lived, who, it is believed may have been instrumental in framing the plot to kill him. If the murder theory is borne out, but this enemy did not kill Peters alone and then dispose of the body without help, the officials believe.

No attempt, however, will be made to either question or ask any person suspected until it has been definitely determined that Peters caused the death of himself, police stated. This may be on Monday or Tuesday of next week.

HOLD FARMER FOR TRIAL IN BOMB DEATH

Reconstruct Death Missile Before Justice Of Peace In Hearing

By Associated Press
Wisconsin Rapids.—Action in the case of John Magnuson, farmer, charged with the murder of Mrs. James Chapman, wife of a county commissioner, rested Friday.

Magnuson was bound over to the Circuit court without bail for trial in the March term of court Thursday. Mrs. Chapman died after a bomb, apparently a Christmas package, exploded while she and her husband were opening it, fatally injuring her and blowing off his right arm.

The bomb was reconstructed before Justice of the Peace Pomalville and witnesses testified that materials used in its construction were similar to those found in Magnuson's workshop. The bomb consisted of T. N. T. in a hollow piece of wood with a shotgun shell used as a fuse cap.

Postoffice Inspector Niles told of the discovery of a box of picric acid cartridges made from wartime T. N. T. given to farmers for blasting purposes and other witnesses said they found shotgun shells similar to the one used in the bomb.

The paper wrapping of the bomb together with other samples of Magnuson's writing have been sent to Milwaukee for examination by a hand writing expert to determine if there is similarity in the penmanship.

Madison.—The story of her romance with Miss Gwendolyn Moore, Milwaukee school teacher, now suing him for $25,000 in a breach of promise suit, was told when papers were filed in the Dane county circuit court on the adverse examination of Perry Fess, a local contractor. Fess admitted intimate relations with Miss Moore, the examination brought out, and detailed the developments eight years ago that led to what is alleged to have been his promise to marry the girl.

According to the testimony, the friendship between the two developed after Fess had rescued Miss Moore from a boat imperiled by a sudden squall on Lake Waubesa. Later the couple were engaged and the engagement broken nearly eight years ago. Since then Fess has married and now is faced with a breach of promise suit, growing out of his previous promise to marry her.

WOMAN, HELD FOR MURDER, REJECTS BAIL

Alleged Slayer Of Former Wisconsin Lumberman Pushes Court Fight

By Associated Press
Hemphill, Tex.—Indignantly refusing to make the $25,000 bond set by Justice W. H. Pratt, Mrs. Lillian Knox, "Lady Bountiful" of east Texas, was ready Friday to carry her fight against the charge of slaying her millionaire husband, in the court of district Judge Stark in the neighboring town of San Augustine.

The two day examining trial of Mrs. Knox at Hemphill, came to a dramatic close Thursday afternoon when Justice Pratt ordered the widow bound over to the grand jury on a charge of murder, with bond set at $25,000.

The principal argument on this line was made by Judge S. M. King, chief counsel for Mrs. Knox. Chester Collins, another defense attorney, took up the argument and made an impassioned statement of his client's case. Justice Pratt indicated that he did not wish to hear more but Collins continued to talk asserting that if he were judge before undertaking to suppress evidence favorable to a defendant he would resign and step down from his high office.

Following the hearing Mrs. Knox was escorted by the sheriff to her home where she has been kept under guard each night except once since she was arrested. In leaving the court room she nodded brightly to the newspaper men and showed little evidence of worry. The attorneys announced immediately that their client would not attempt to make bail although bondsmen were available at any time they preferred to push the habeas corpus proceedings in the District court, so as to free their client from the unjustified confinement.

The fact that the slain millionaire was a "Christmas package" declared while she and her husband were opening it, fatally injuring her and blowing off his right arm.

The bomb was reconstructed before Justice of the Peace Pomalville and witnesses testified that materials used in its construction were similar to those found in Magnuson's workshop. The bomb consisted of T. N. T. in a hollow piece of wood with a shotgun shell used as a fuse cap.

Postoffice Inspector Niles told of the discovery of a box of picric acid cartridges made from wartime T. N. T. given to farmers for blasting purposes and other witnesses said they found shotgun shells similar to the one used in the bomb.

Max Winkle Acquited Of Slaying Wife

Former Appleton Man Is Freed By Jury In Chicago Criminal Court

Max Winkle, 34, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Winkle, 480 Harrison-st, was cleared of a charge of murdering his wife by a jury in criminal court in Chicago Thursday night after the case had been on the docket for more than four years. Frank Winkle, assisted by Attorney Mark S. Catlin were instrumental in securing an order to try the case after the Cook county district attorney had repeatedly postponed because of inability to obtain evidence against Winkle. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty after less than 15 minutes deliberation. The defense contended that the shooting was an accident.

The slaying occurred at the Winkle home in Chicago on Oct. 26, 1918. Winkle was immediately arrested but he was held in jail for 34 days before his release on bail was obtained by his father. Many attempts had been made to have Winkle brought to trial but no progress was made until the week between Christmas and New Years when the elder Winkle and Catlin went to Chicago and demanded that the case be tried.

The defense contended that Winkle had demonstrated with his wife against her going about with other men and that just prior to the shooting he had said that he was about to leave her. She went to their home as Winkle was preparing to leave, according to the evidence, and threatened him with a shotgun. Winkle claimed he tried to take the gun away from her and in doing so he fell on the floor and the gun was discharged, the bullets entering his wife's abdomen and traveling up into her lungs. She died almost instantly. Mr. Catlin argued that the gun could easily be discharged by the client and he convinced the jury that the position of the wound was sufficient indication that the discharge was accidental.

Winkle now is living in Green Bay. He has married again and is said to have a responsible position with a paper manufacturing company.

BROTHER FILES SECOND BANKRUPTCY

John C. Kellner, Manitowoc And Kellerville, Also Enters Petition

By Associated Press
Milwaukee.—John C. Kellner, Manitowoc, who was a partner in the former general merchandise firm of M. Kellner & Sons, which conducted a business at Manitowoc and Kellerville, Manitowoc, Friday filed a petition in bankruptcy. Mr. Kellner said that he owned $214,316. He appraised his assets at $66,999 and said that assets worth $5,000 were exempt. Michael J. Kellner, a brother of John Kellner, who was the other partner in the firm filed a petition a week ago. In both petitions the liabilities are largely the same, and John C. Kellner said that he is scheduling many of his liabilities because he thinks they may be liabilities of his although primarily those of his brother.

The latest petitioner has unsecured liabilities amounting to $194,000. The largest item among the assets in real estate worth $41,500 and the next largest accounts receivable amounting to $5,661.

As in the case of Michael J. Kellner, one of the principal sources of liabilities of his brother is the fact that firm accepted loans from about 250 residents of Manitowoc, the money to be invested by the firm. The loans ranged from $100 to $8,000 and the aggregate amount was $48,233.

B. C. Ziegler & Co., West Bend, which is owed $14,000, secured by a mortgage. The next largest is the National Bank of Manitowoc, which has a claim of $12,000, also secured by a mortgage.

GOLD! WHERE IS GOLD? CRY OF COUNTRIES

Bullion Sent To America, England Tells France In Reparatons Tangle

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1923, by the Post Pub. Co.
Washington.—Officials of the United States government have had their curiosity aroused by the statement of Andrew Bonar Law, the British prime minister, to the effect that the gold deposited in England by France had been exported to the United States in payment of munitions and war supplies.

The immediate inference which can be drawn from that statement is that the United States government has received the gold from England in payment for munitions exported to Great Britain since the United States entered the war. Inquiry disclosed the fact that the British premier might have been a bit more explicit for officials here have no recollection of any payment of gold from Great Britain since 1917. If any gold was exported in payment for munitions it must have been prior to April 1917 when the British had large credits in the country and when banking arrangements were being conducted through their fiscal agents, J. P. Morgan and company.

U. S. PAID DEBTS

When America entered the war the British had no business exporting gold. Since that time, advances were made out of the treasury of the United States government even after the armistice. America has not pressed Great Britain or any of the Allies for payment and any impression that England had to export gold to the American government since 1917, as of course erroneous. Large sums of gold have been exported to America in the normal course of trade but there is no record in government quarters of any export to America of the sums which France had on deposit in Great Britain.

Just what occurred prior to April 1917, is not known because everything was arranged between British government and private bankers but the unofficial records here do show that approximately $375,000,000 have been carried on the books of the Bank of France as assets deposited in Great Britain.

The objection of the French is that the British had no business exporting that $375,000,000 of gold since it was deposited only as security and not as payment of French debts to England. The British, however, are contending the sum as part payment and now are disclosing the fact that the deposits no longer exist but are in America. Naturally this news will not be pleasing in French circles where the assets of the Bank of France are suddenly reduced by $375,000,000.

TRIED TO FREE MEN IN MINE, IS CLAIM

By Associated Press
Marion, Ill.—John Crompton, a witness for the defense at the trial of five men in connection with the Hermit mine, testified Friday that a crowd went to the "strata" mine the day the riots started in the belief that the non-union workers there were being held as virtual prisoners.

The witness said that one of five men who fled from the mine that day told him the non-union workers had been threatened with death if they quit and the crowd went to the mine on a peaceable mission to induce the non-union men to leave but were fired on by the guards before they reached the mine.

The defense read a letter written on June 19 by Sherman Holmes, one of the guards at the mine which said that the guards had "two guns on the dam reservoir, two on the kitchens and sleeping cars and six on the top of the hills which shoot 600 shots a minute each."

"There are about 100 guards with rifles which shoot three miles," the letter continued.

"We get $12 a day and are under contract for 90 days. We sit here on an eight hour shift watching for someone to stick their heads over the mountain or out of the woods so as to give us a little practice in shooting."

Two white men are known to be dead, three wounded and a score of more blacks are believed slain. At the fighting which took place early Thursday night.

Denounced posse and citizens came to numbers in the thousands, pouring into this village early Friday morning. Automobile after automobile heavily laden with armed men, have arrived, some coming from a distance of about 75 miles.

BATTLE ALL NIGHT
All night long citizens surrounding the hut kept up a heavy fire and at intervals volleys of lead were fired from behind the barricade. At the first break of dawn the whites were preparing to rush the house from all sides. Authorities believed that unless the Negroes will surrender "they will be smoked out."

No racial outbreaks other than at this place have been reported. Since Monday this section of Florida has been stirred as the result of an alleged criminal attack upon a white woman at Sumner. Three Negroes are alleged to have taken part in the attack. Monday night one Negro was shot to death when he is said to have admitted to a mob that he had transported one of the Negroes wanted several miles in a wagon.

SHOOT AND KILL
Early Thursday night the Negroes wanted were at Rosewood. A party of citizens went to Rosewood to investigate. In one house it is said they found 25 Negroes heavily armed. As the party started to enter the house two were shot to death without warning. Three other whites were wounded in the first skirmish.

REMOVED BODIES
Sumner, Fla.—Firing at Rosewood two miles from here, where more than a score of Negroes were barricaded all night in a house with hundreds of armed men besieging them, ceased shortly before dawn and the bodies were removed to a place where they were buried.

At the hour the known casualties were two white men and three wounded. What the Negro casualties were could not be determined. It was regarded as certain however that the besieged blacks had suffered from the hail of bullets which penetrated the walls, windows and doors of the structure.

The bodies of two white men, Henry Andrews, superintendent of a sawmill and Boly Wilkerson, were recovered shortly after 8 o'clock. Volunteers entered the yard under the guns of the Negroes and removed them without being fired upon. They were brought to the funeral home here early Friday enroute to the scene.

The bodies of Andrews and Wilkerson laid all night where they fell. No one was able to venture so hot was fire from behind the barricade to rescue them. Andrews leaves a wife and three children and Wilkerson a wife and five children.

London.—The Berlin correspondent of the Central News says that he learns from a well informed source "that in accordance with a request made by the British on Wednesday the United States government intends to call an international conference in Washington next week to consider the reparations deadlock."

The British foreign office denied Friday afternoon that it had requested the United States to call an international conference on reparations as reported by the Central News correspondent.

But this enemy did not kill Peters alone and then dispose of the body without help, the officials believe.

No attempt, however, will be made to either question or ask any person suspected until it has been definitely determined that poison caused the death of Peters, officials stated. This may be on Monday or Tuesday of next week.

HOLD FARMER FOR TRIAL IN BOMB DEATH

Reconstruct Death Missile Before
Justice Of Peace
In Hearing

By Associated Press

Wisconsin Rapids.—Action in the case of John Magnuson, farmer, charged with the murder of Mrs. James Chapman, wife of a county commissioner, rested Friday.

Magnuson was bound over to the Circuit court without bail for trial in the March term of court Thursday.

Mrs. Chapman died after a bomb, apparently a Christmas package, exploded while she and her husband were opening it, fatally injuring her and blowing off his right arm.

The bomb was reconstructed before Justice of the Peace Pomainville and witnesses testified that materials used in its construction were similar to those found in Magnuson's workshop. The bomb consisted of T. N. T. in a hollow piece of wood with a shotgun shell used as a fuse cap.

Postoffice Inspector Niles told of the discovery of a box of picric acid cartridges made from wartime T. N. T. given to farmers for blasting purposes and other witnesses said they found shotgun shells similar to the one used in the bomb.

The paper wrapping of the bomb together with other samples of Magnuson's writing have been sent to Milwaukee for examination by a hand writing expert to determine if there is similarity in the penmanship.

GIRL HE RESCUED SUES
FOR BREACH OF PROMISE

By Associated Press

Madison.—The story of his romance with Miss Gwendolyn Moore, Milwaukee school teacher, now suing him for $25,000 in a breach of promise suit, was told when papers were filed in the Dane county circuit court on the adverse examination of Perry Fess, a local contractor. Fess admitted intimate relations with Miss Moore, the examination brought out, and detailed the developments eight years ago that led to what is alleged to have been his promise to marry the girl.

According to the testimony, the friendship between the two developed after Fess had rescued Miss Moore and a number of her companions from a boat imperiled by a sudden squall on Lake Waubesa. Later the couple were engaged and the engagement broken nearly eight years ago. Since then Fess has married and now is faced with a breach of promise suit, growing out of his previous promise to marry her.

WOMAN, HELD FOR MURDER, REJECTS BAIL

Alleged Slayer Of Former Wisconsin Lumberman Pushes Court Fight

By Associated Press

Hemphill, Tex.—Indignantly refusing to make the $25,000 bond set by Justice W. H. Pratt, Mrs. Lillian Knox, "Lady Bountiful" of east Texas, was ready Friday to carry her fight against the charge of slaying her millionaire husband, in the court of district Judge Stark in the neighboring town of San Augustine.

The two day examining trial of Mrs. Knox at Hemphill came to a dramatic close Thursday afternoon when Justice Pratt ordered the widow bound over to the grand jury on a charge of murder, with bond set at $25,000.

The principal argument on this line was made by Judge S. M. Kling, chief counsel for Mrs. Knox. Chester Collins, another defense attorney, took up the argument and made an impassioned statement of his client's case. Justice Pratt indicated that he did not wish to hear more but Collins continued to talk asserting that if he were judge before undertaking to suppress evidence favorable to a defendant he would resign and step down from his high office.

Following the hearing Mrs. Knox was escorted by the sheriff to her home where she has been kept under guard each night except once since she was arrested. In leaving the court room she nodded brightly to the newspapermen and showed little evidence of worry. The attorneys announced immediately that their client would not attempt to make bail although bondsmen were available at any time. They preferred to push the habeas corpus proceedings in the District court, so as to free their client from the injustice of being held in the county jail.

The action Friday at San Augustine will be in the nature of habeas corpus proceedings.

BROTHER FILES SECOND BANKRUPTCY

John C. Kellner, Manitowoc And

Petition

By Associated Press

Manitowoc.—John C. Kellner, Manitowoc, who was a partner in the former general merchandise firm of M. Kellner & Sons, which conducted a business at Manitowoc and Kellnerville, Manitowoc, Friday filed a petition in bankruptcy. Mr. Kellner said he owed $214,316. He appraised his assets at $66,999 and said that assets worth $5,000 were exempt.

Michael J. Kellner, a brother of John Kellner, who was the other partner in the firm filed a petition a week ago. In both petitions the liabilities are largely the same, and John C. Kellner said that he is scheduling the liabilities. He thinks they may be liabilities of his, although primarily those of his brother.

The latest petitioner has unsecured liabilities amounting to $194,000. The largest item among the assets is real estate worth $41,500, and the next largest accounts receivable amounting to $5,661.

In the case of Michael J. Kellner, as in the case of the principal sources of liabilities of his brother is the fact that firm accepted loans from about 250 residents of Manitowoc, the money to be invested by the firm. The amounts ranged from $100, to $8,900 and the aggregate amount was $48,238.

B. C. Ziegler & Co., West Bend, to which is owed $14,000, secured by a mortgage. The next largest is the national Bank of Manitowoc, which has a claim of $12,000, also secured by a mortgage.

Max Winkle Acquitted Of Slaying Wife

Former Appleton Man Is Freed
By Jury In Chicago
Criminal Court

Max Winkle, 34, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Winkle, 430 Harrison-st., was cleared of a charge of murdering his wife by a jury in criminal court in Chicago Thursday night after the case had been on the docket for more than four years. Frank Winkle, assisted by Attorney Mark S. Catlin were instrumental in securing an order to try the case after the Cook county district attorney had postponed because of inability to obtain evidence against Winkle. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty after less than 15 minutes deliberation. The defense contended that the shooting was an accident.

The slaying occurred at the Winkle home in Chicago on Oct. 26, 1918. Winkle was immediately arrested but declared the shooting was accidental. He was held in jail for 34 days before his release on bail was obtained by his father. Many attempts had been made to have the case brought to trial but no progress was made until the week between Christmas and New Years when the elder Winkle and Catlin went to Chicago and demanded that the case be tried.

The defense contended that Winkle had remonstrated with his wife against her going about with other men and that just prior to the shooting he had said that he was about to leave her. She went to their home as Winkle was preparing to leave, according to the evidence, and threatened him with a shotgun. Winkle claimed he tried to take the gun away from her and in doing so he fell on the floor and the gun was discharged. The bullets entering his wife's abdomen and traveling up in to her lungs. She died almost instantly. Mr. Catlin argued that the gun could easily be discharged by accident and he convinced the jury that the position of the wound was sufficient indication that the discharge was accidental.

Winkle now is living in Green Bay. He has married again, it is said to have a responsible position with a paper manufacturing company.

GOLD! WHERE IS GOLD? CRY OF COUNTRIES

Bullion Sent To America, England Tells France In Reparations Tangle

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington.—Officials of the United States government have had their curiosity aroused by a statement of Andrew Bonar Law, the British prime minister, to the effect that the gold deposited in England by France had been exported to the United States in payment of munitions and war supplies.

The immediate inference which can be drawn from that statement is that the United States government has received the gold from England in payment for munitions exported to Great Britain since the United States entered the war. Inquiry disclosed the fact that the British premier might have been a bit more explicit for officials here have no recollection of any payment of gold from Great Britain since 1917. If any gold was exported in payment for munitions it must have been prior to April 1917 when the British had large credits in the country and when banking arrangements were being conducted through their fiscal agents, J. P. Morgan and company.

U. S. PAID DEBTS
When America entered the war, the United States took over all outstanding contracts and even paid up some short time loans of the Allied governments which were then maturing. Since that time, advances were made out of the treasury of the United States government even after the armistice. America has not pressed Great Britain or any of the Allies for payment and any impression that Britain had to export gold to the American government since 1917 is of course erroneous. Large sums of gold have been exported to America in the normal course of trade but there is no record in government quarters of any export of America of the sums which France had on deposit in Great Britain.

Just what occurred prior to April 1917, is not known because everything was arranged between British government and private bankers but the unofficial records here do show that approximately $375,000,000 have been carried on the books of the Bank of France as assets deposited in Great Britain.

The objection of the French is that the British had no business exporting that $375,000,000 of gold since it was deposited only as security and not as payment of French debts to England. The British, however, are construing the sum as part payment and now are disclosing the fact that the deposits no longer exist but are in America. Naturally this news will not be pleasing in French circles where the assets of the Bank of France are suddenly reduced by $375,000,000.

Negro Found Dead On Roadway
After Band Dashes For Freedom

BULLETIN
Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 4.—At 4 o'clock Friday morning according to information here the ammunition of the attackers became exhausted and the departure of many for fresh supplies gave the besieged Negroes an opportunity to escape. Their departure was discovered at daylight.

BULLETIN
Bronson, Fla.—Mingo Williams, Negro, 50, was found dead on the public highway about a mile north of here shortly after noon Friday. He had been dead but a short time. Scores of citizens hurried from town to the scene of the killing.

Rosewood, Fla.—Hundreds of citizens were early Friday preparing to renew their efforts to smash a barricade behind which 25 or more heavily armed Negroes are making a stand here in a small hut.

Two white men are known to be dead three wounded and a score or more blacks are believed slain in the fighting which took place early Thursday night.

Deputized posses and citizens are endeavoring to break through the barricade. The fighting was reported to have begun Monday night when a Negro automobile, heavily laden with armed men, have arrived, some coming from a distance of about 75 miles.

BATTLE ALL NIGHT
All night long citizens surrounding the hut kept up a heavy fire and as intervals volleys of lead were fired from behind the barricade. At the first break of dawn the whites were preparing to rush the house from all sides. Authorities believed that unless the Negroes will surrender "they will be smoked out."

No racial outbreaks other than at the place have been reported. Since Monday this section of Florida has been stirred as the result of an alleged criminal attack upon a white woman at Sumner. Three Negroes are alleged to have taken part in the attack. Monday night one Negro was shot to death when he is said to have admitted to a mob that he had transported one of the Negroes wanted several miles in a wagon.

SHOOT AND KILL
Early Thursday night a report reached Sumner that the Negroes wanted were at Rosewood. A party of citizens went to Rosewood to investigate. In one house it is said they found 25 Negroes heavily armed. At the party started to enter the house two were shot to death without warning. Three other whites were wounded in the first skirmish.

REMOVE BODIES
Sumner, Fla.—Firing at Rosewood, two miles from here, where more than a score of Negroes were barricaded all night in a house with hundreds of armed men besieging them, ceased shortly before dawn and had not been resumed at 8 o'clock Friday morning. The intermittent firing throughout the night could be heard distinctly here.

At the hour the known casualties were two white men and three wounded. What the Negro casualties were could not be determined. It was regarded as certain however that the besieged blacks had suffered from the hail of bullets which penetrated the walls, windows and doors of the structure.

The bodies of two white men, Henry Andrews, superintendent of a saw mill and Eddy Wilkerson, were recovered shortly after 8 o'clock. Volunteers entered the yard under the guns of the Negroes and removed them without being fired upon. They were brought here. Parties of armed men continued to pass through here early Friday enroute to the scene.

The bodies of Andrews and Wilkerson had all night where they fell. No one was able to venture so hot was fire from behind the barricade to rescue them. Andrews leaves a wife and three children and Wilkerson a wife and five children.

Receipts Of $861.30

In a resolution to be presented at the regular meeting of Appleton Womans club on Tuesday evening by the civics department, the Majestic theatre of this city will be complimented on its stand in regard to not showing films in which Hecce "Fat" Arbuckle appears. The resolution was discussed at the meeting of the board of directors at the clubroom on Thursday afternoon when the women expressed themselves as being absolutely opposed to the showing of Arbuckle films in this city after the publicity which his trials have been given.

Mrs. H. W. Russell, chairman of the health department, gave her report on the Christmas seal sale which brought $421.15 into the treasury of the club to pay for the milk lunches in the schools. The money from the school sale of seals amounted to $477.82, while that from the business district sale amounted to $383.48 giving a total of $861.30. Half of this amount goes to the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association in Milwaukee to continue its work for better health conditions in the state and the remainder stays in Appleton. Mrs. Russell asked that $21.15 be retained by the health department to provide equipment for the monthly baby clinics. Mrs. Russell reported that the next clinic for children up to six years will be at the clubroom on Jan. 23.

CONTINUE LUNCHEES

Mrs. H. D. McChesney and Mrs. Frank Wright reported on the program for the regular meeting on Tuesday evening which will be given by the music department. The board voted that since the program committee feels that lunches add greatly to the social hour after the business and program that the custom be continued when the meetings were for club members only.

Mrs. James Wood reported that Count Tolstoy will be at Lawrence Memorial chapel on Jan. 19 and outlined the plans for giving the lecture publicly. Mrs. Roy Marston reported that the membership of the club was 1,003 on the day of the board meeting with 6 junior memberships. Other matters of business were taken up.

An Appleton radio outfit earned a five-pound box of candy on Thursday evening for its owners. Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Holmes and Miss Esther Miller tuned in on their radio apparatus and heard a concert sent out by Crossley Manufacturing company at Cincinnati, which happens to be the place where Miss Miller lives. During the concert an announcement was made that a surprise was coming at the end. The Appleton people sent their telegram at once. Just 20 minutes later it was announced by radio as the winning one from a Wisconsin station. C. OF C. MEMBERS IN RUSH TO HEAR BABSON SPEAKER

Flood Of Reservations Indicates
Eagerness To Know Trend
Of Business

None of the chamber of commerce forum dinners so far this season has drawn as many reservations as the meeting to be held at 6:15 Monday evening in the Venetian room of the Sherman house.

The reasons are two: The topic, "The Business Forecast for 1923," and the speaker, L. L. Newton of the Babson Statistical Bureau.

A year ago there was an attendance of 235 at the dinner, and the members felt well repaid for attending. The Babson man gave facts and figures which proved accurate and helped in the guiding of business institutions over the most difficult year known. With the same data promised at the meeting Monday, the capacity of the dining room is expected to be taken by Saturday.

Mr. Newton has the famous business research services of the Babson bureau as the basis of his talk, and will give it a local aspect because of the amount of time he spends in Wisconsin. He presents his subject ably.

Secretary Corbett urges every member to have his reservation card in the mail Saturday so there will be no disappointments.

Bad Luck If You Don't Burn Yule Trees Saturday

Saturday is the official day to take down all Christmas and holiday decorations and burn them since it is the Twelfth Night and an old custom makes it the time to take down the Christmas trimmings. The custom further has it that unless the decorations are burned on Twelfth Night, bad luck will follow during the ensuing year.

The Christmas trees in front of the Pettibone-Peabody store will be taken down on Saturday and it is expected that the street decorations also will disappear. No arrangements have been made as far as can be learned for a community bonfire at which the trees will be burned in order to save the city from the bad luck which is promised by the superstitions.

The pessimists in the city are saying that instead of being thrown into some ravine to be a constant reminder throughout the year of the city's Christmas festooning.

SHOW POPULAR STORY IN CHURCH MOVIE TONIGHT

"Rebecca of Sunny Brook Farm," the story which is so popular with children and grownups, will be shown in motion pictures at the First Congregational church at 7:30 Friday evening. The program also will include comic and educational films and musical numbers.

A large number of children attended the matinee at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Piles

Can't Be Cured from the Outside

External treatments seldom cure Piles.

Nor do surgical operations.

The cause is inside—bad circulation.

The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.

The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send a fresh current through stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Ointments and cutting won't do it.

J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at Schlitz Bros. Co., who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer. adv.

GREENVILLE WILL HAVE TELEPHONES READY IN 60 DAYS

Enough Farmers Ask Service So Rebuilding Of Plant Has Been Started

Enough farmers signed the Wisconsin Telephone company's petition for resumption of service at the Greenville exchange so that work has been begun on rebuilding of the lines. Every subscriber will have service within 60 days, J. T. Quinlan, district manager, announces, and many before that period.

A considerable amount of work must be done because the whole system was ruined during the week storm in February of last year. A large crew is busy, however, so the project will be completed rapidly.

Thirty telephones now are connected to the Greenville exchange and these patrons are enjoying local service. They are able to communicate with Appleton over the long distance lines. A reduced rate is in force as long as the usual trunk line arrangement is not operating.

It may be several weeks before the trunk lines to Appleton are restored, Mr. Quinlan says, but the toll wires will be available in the meantime. The trunk system also was destroyed by the sleet storm.

Subscribers of Ellington Farmers Telephone company may enjoy service on the Wisconsin Telephone company system within a week or two if they make a request for it, Mr. Quinlan says.

Numbers of telephones will be put into service each week as the work progresses, and only part of the patrons therefore will be obliged to wait the approximate period of 60 days required to reconstruct the Greenville plant.

ON THE SCREEN

THE NIGHT ROSE

"The Night Rose," a new Goldwyn melodrama from the pen of the famous novelist, Leroy Scott, will be shown at the Elite Theatre, for 2 days beginning today. In this thrilling picture, the power of a leader of the underworld is seen to reach into the very halls of justice. Political heroes are the pawns of the mighty character who controls them through fear and through a secret organization of cut-throats and robbers. However, the leader of this gang is undone by a woman, a fact that has often occurred in reality.

Lon Chaney, who will be remembered for his remarkable characterization of a legless thug in the Goldwyn production of "The Penalty," has the leading part in "The Night Rose." All the other leading parts are filled by such sterling players as Leatrice Joy, Betty Schade, Edythe Chapman, John Bowers, Cullen Landis, Maurice B. Flynn and Richard Tucker. Wallace Worley directed the picture.

MASSIVE SCENE SETS

Two lines of mighty columns, strangely shaped, towering to the skies. A long passageway of sand trodden by the feet of devout worshippers. At the end the figure of Krishna, incarnation of Vishnu, beloved by his people, in his forehead a sacred flaming jewel whose soft blue light falls tranquilly upon the ones below.

And behind the devout ones a man who speaks through a mouthpiece while an instrument of complex character is turned—registering the emotions of those who render their oblations to the idol. It is a temple of India and the scene is in "The Young Rajah," starring Rodolph Valentino, which is being shown for the last times today and tomorrow at Fischer's Appleton theatre.

MAY NOT EXTEND TAXPAYING TIME; INTEREST, REASON

Treasurer's Office Has Had Rush Of Small Payments Since Dec. 29

With the initial taxpaying stampede ended in which the city treasurer's office was crowded almost continually every day since the opening of the period on Dec. 29, the line is beginning to thin out. The final day for paying taxes without the 2 per cent penalty is Jan. 31. The sentiment that prevails in city hall circles is that the common council will not extend the taxpaying time this year on account of the interest the council loses on deposits at the bank.

Hundreds of property owners have called at the office within the last seven days in order to settle their accounts with the city, most of them payers of small tax bills. A total of more than $100,000 has thus far passed through the service window of the treasurer's office. Fred Bachman is being assisted in the work of collections by John Court.

Mr. Smith has been associated with printing plants for a number of years and comes here from George Banta Publishing company, Menasha, where he has been superintendent for four years.

The Badger Printing company is one of Appleton's newer concerns. It was organized March 1, 1921, incorporated for $25,000 and a building was erected on Adams-st. in the west end. Arnold Jacobs was one of the incorporators and was secretary-treasurer, but sold his interest to Mr. Martin several months ago. He still is employed with the company, however.

Auxiliary To Be Of Help To Veterans

Small Money Loans Voted At Meeting To Men In Federal Hospitals

When the Legion auxiliary had its meeting at Armory G after the lunch on at 12:30 Thursday, another step in giving immediate relief to former service men was taken. Three money loans to service men were agreed upon by the women. The auxiliary has been active since its foundation in helping needy families of service men, but the three loans are the first step in helping disabled men who need money at once.

The three are worthy disabled men who are without funds and in hospitals. Two of them are in Milwaukee and one in No. 30 hospital in Chicago. The auxiliary has agreed to loan $1 a week for each of these men in order that they may have money for the necessities in hospitals. The cases were brought to the attention of the auxiliary by the Red Cross and the immediate action on the part of the auxiliary is evidence of the ready spirit of cooperation in interest of service men. "Red tape" is avoided whenever possible. Two of the men are from the county and one from Appleton.

Mrs. Eugene Orblson reviewed the work of the auxiliary and other talks were given by Mrs. W. Redfield of Green Bay, state organizer, and Miss Ann Helm. It was decided the auxiliary should be known merely as the Legion auxiliary.

TELLTALE SYMPTOMS OF WOMAN'S ILLS

Every woman who suffers from backache, headaches, dragging-down pains, nervousness, irregularities, displacements, irritability, or despondency should recognize in such symptoms some more serious ailment developing, which should have attention before some more serious ailment develops. These conditions are often evidenced by a sallow complexion, dark circles under the eyes, lassitude and sleeplessness. For nearly fifty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been pre-eminently successful in overcoming such conditions, and it is now recognized everywhere as the standard remedy for woman's ills.

70 Voices In Chorus For 'Normandy'

Symphony Orchestra Also Will Assist In Comic Opera Jan. 17-18

A small symphony orchestra, a chorus of 70 trained voices belonging to pretty college girls and handsome college men, special scenery and elaborate costumes will be the drawing cards at "Chimes of Normandy" which will be presented at Lawrence Memorial chapel Jan. 17 and 18. The chorus and the principal characters have been taken from the Lawrence College Glee club of mixed voices.

Carl J. Waterman, dean of Lawrence conservatory will be general manager of the production. Dr. Earl Baker will conduct the opera while Marguerite Arens will have charge of the dramatic work. Prof. Percy Fullinwider will be concert master of the orchestra, while Carl McKee will have charge of the stage properties and Miss Margaret Austin of the costumes. This is the first comic opera ever undertaken by the college students in Appleton. The production will be staged with difficulty because of the lack of equipment and staging facilities at Lawrence Memorial chapel. Every dramatic production which has been given in the chapel has needed much extra labor and preparation in order to get the proper effects. The lack of drop curtains from the ceiling and the unusually wide apron in front of the curtain cause a great deal of the difficulty.

Kaukauna—Frank Charlesworth, Jr., county surveyor, has received instructions to draw a large map of Outagamie county to be used at sessions of the County board. The map will be seven feet high by eight feet long and will eliminate the confusion in county board meetings which usually arises when members are required to bunch up around small maps for their work. Mr. Charlesworth has been asked to have the map prepared in time for the next session of the board.

TEN PER CENT OF MARRIAGES HERE END WITH DIVORCE

Year's Record Shows 38 Divorces Granted To Couples In County

One of every eleven marriages entered into in Outagamie county proves a failure, if one considers the divorce suit as the standard by which marriage failures are to be judged. Approximately 10 per cent of the marriages in the county end in the divorce court.

How many married couples in addition apply for divorce without success, how many are passing the time in discord and how many husbands are neglecting to support their wives, are not matters of public record but if known should have some bearing on the percentage of marriage failures.

In the year ending Dec. 31, 1922, a total of 38 absolute divorces were granted, according to the records of Harry A. Shannon, clerk of court. In the same year the county clerk issued 422 marriage licenses. The gain in the number of divorces over the year 1921 was but one, while neither an increase nor a decrease is noted in the number of marriages in the county. There were three cases of failure to support handed in the upper branch of municipal court.

The county's record of legally unsuccessful marriages is still quite favorable, compared to that in the city of Denver where with a total of 2,000 marriage licenses issued, 1,500 divorces were granted and an additional 1,500 cases of failure to support and separation were handled, according to which there are no successful marriages in Denver. It appears.

In this county persons of all ages "fall" for the divorce. Although the first few years of wedded life seem to be the most trying period, there are not a few aged couples among the list of divorcees.

GREEK NAMES ARE POPULAR USAGES

Odyssey Readers At High School Make Posters Confirming Trade Custom

Advertisements are again taking on new life for the Appleton high school students who are required to make posters of all sorts during the year. This time it is the advertisements which have a connection, however remote with the ancient epic poem "The Odyssey." The students who are looking for the Greek pictures are members of Miss Marion O'Neil's English class which has been reading the poem.

The object of having the posters made is to show the far-reaching influence of Greek mythology and "The Odyssey" on various trains of thought in the present time. One poster shows a number of advertisements of commercial products which have been named for Greek gods and goddesses. These include such a variety of things as Neptune sardines, Venus pencils, Paris garters, Hebe milk, Athena underwear, Ajax tires, Apollo pianos, Hercules dynamite, Achilles heels, Anello chocolates, Minerva Worsted yarns, Colossus sponges, Vesuvius plugs and many more.

Another poster shows the many references to the Greek mythology in present day writings. This shows several feature stories from well known newspapers which draw attention to a mythological story of one or the other of the gods. It is surprising to note the large number of references to the Greeks which appear in every magazine and it is by means of these posters that their origin is brought to attention.

ORGANIZE TO OUST COMMISSION RULE

Oshkosh Men Plan Campaign Of Education To Bring Managerial Plan

Oshkosh—At a meeting of a representative group of citizens Wednesday evening, an organization to be known as the Alderman-Manager Association of Oshkosh was formed to carry on a campaign in favor of the manager form of municipal government in place of the present commission council form. J. E. Doyle was elected president, C. W. Springate, secretary and L. G. Seiberlich, treasurer.

A committee will be named to gather facts regarding the different forms of municipal government and present them for consideration. The most popular form it is believed, is that in which the council will have an alderman from each of the fourteen wards, that body hiring the manager. It is hoped to put the question of a change up at the election next spring, so that the new plan, if it carries, may go into effect in April, 1924, when Mayor A. C. McHenry's term expires.

Teach Youths To Plan Houses And Build Them

Models Are Made At High School Showing Every Construction Detail

Because one knows how houses should be constructed, their correct proportions of wall space, and about many of the little tricks of the trade which go toward making better buildings does not mean that one has to be an architect but it certainly does mean that one is a better citizen. Boys in the architectural drawing class at Appleton high school under the direction of Robert Grant are learning all these things and what is more, making models of the various processes which go toward making up a house.

The boys study the floor plans of houses clearing all the proportions and symbols of drawing. They plan their houses and make the complete set of plans including floor plans, elevations and details. Then they set to work to show, according to scale, just how these things which are essential to construction are done. These models of various types of work are built and mounted for inspection. The model study includes the wood construction necessary for stucco and brick veneer as well as all wood houses.

HAVE VARIED COURSE
One thing which is emphasized in the course is the many variations which are possible. It is hard to think that any of the boys who have this training will ever become the one-way carpenters that so many homebuilders struggle with. These boys are given the very latest developments in safe and sound construction.

The instructors in this course and any other in the manual training department would be glad to have carpenters, builders and homemakers who are interested see the models. Many people think they would be intruding. It is possible that these models will be displayed in a store window downtown, but those who are interested are urged to go to the high school at any time to see them.

TRAVELERS OUT EARLY AFTER 1923 BUSINESS

Commercial men are back on the road about ten days earlier this year than previous years. Heretofore they seldom showed up at hotels until the middle of January, but now practically all of them are back in their territory, judging by the appearance of the local hotel registers.

EIGHT CITIES PUSH SCOUT FUSION PLAN

New Council Will Be Elected Here At Committee Meeting, Jan. 11

Work is being done constantly on the unit plan of the organization of the boy scouts in this locality by H. P. Buck, scout executive of Appleton and Kaukauna, and by special committees from the various cities. The executive committee meeting of the local organization will take place on Thursday, Jan. 11 at which time representatives from all the churches where troops are located and several men from Neenah will be present. It is planned to elect a new council in Appleton at that meeting.

The plan which is being considered by scout committees in Oshkosh, Neenah-Menasha, Kaukauna, Little Chute, Kimberly, New London and others is one by which all scout executive work would be brought under the direction of a community council or committee with representatives from each city. This council will be empowered to elect the scout executives who will work in all the cities. It is thought that one executive could take care of all the work.

Arrangements for the adoption of this plan of administration of scout activities have not been completed. Councils will be elected at Kaukauna,

BEGIN ICE HARVEST ON LAKE MONDAY

Lutz Ice Co. will commence cutting its annual supply of ice next Monday. The icehouses at Lake Winnebago will be the first to be filled. The ice in the lake is 14 inches thick and of good quality. As soon as the lake ice-house is filled operations will be transferred to Lehman's landing. About three weeks will be required to complete the cut. The company had enough ice to carry it through this season for the first time in several years.

Little Chute, Kimberly and Appleton in the near future and the other cities will probably have their elections soon. These councils will be the ones to make the final decision on the plan of union.

CENTER VALLEY IS SHIPPING CENTER

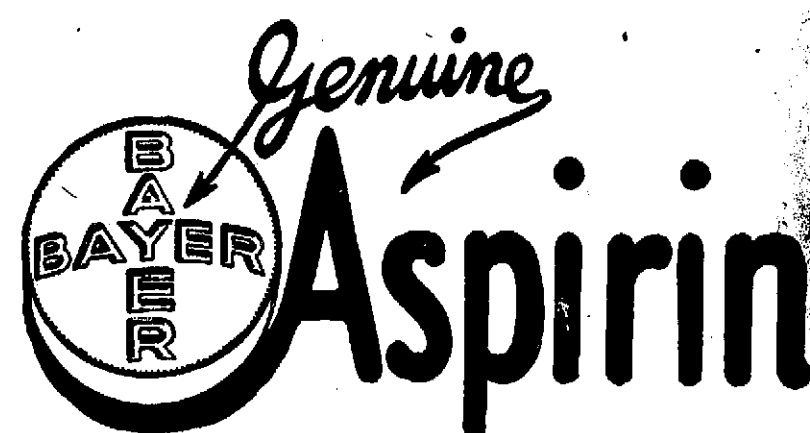

Four Carloads Go From Farmers To Markets In One Day From Station

That Center Valley is becoming an important shipping point is shown by the fact that four carloads of livestock, two carloads of sugar beets and several carloads of cabbage were shipped recently in one day.

Center Valley is located on the Soo Line about 11 miles north of Appleton. It consists of a lumber and fuel yard, cattle yard, cabbage cold storage building, two residences and a sugar beet dump.

Alvin Mueller has just completed a warehouse and will handle all kinds of feed and flour. He also has charge of the cabbage cold storage building which is owned by Peewauthen & Sons of Chicago.

It is expected another new and larger sugar beet dump will be put up next summer by Menominee Sugar Beet Co., whose agents are active in securing acreage. The activity of Center Valley is due to its location in prosperous farming district.

HIGH SCHOOL BASKETEERS INVADE GREEN BAY TONIGHT

BLUE AND ORANGE MEETS HARD Foe IN WEST SIDERS

Dope Favors Bay Players Deney Announces Organization Of Second Team

Coach A. C. Denney and a squad of ten basketballers departed Friday afternoon for Green Bay where they are scheduled to play in the evening the first basketball game of the Appleton high school this year with the strong West Green Bay quintet.

Coach Denney took a big squad along because he intended to give as many as possible a chance to play. His object will be to test the individuals. There was little optimism expressed by the high school followers as to the outcome of the game. West Green Bay has already taken the scalps of Seymour and East Green Bay and has had much longer practice than the Blue and Orange squad.

Those making the trip in addition to the coach and Leon C. High, manager of athletics, were Captain "Red" Ashman, Stewart Mills, "Pete" Briesle, "Snookie" Heideman, "Vic" Hagerty, "Bill" Hornbeck, "Milt" Schuerle, "Arnie" Hillman, "Pete" Schweiger, and Harry Vaughan.

The high school players completed practice Thursday evening with a short scrimmage against the freshmen.

GAME HERE TONIGHT

While the regulars will be absent a basketball game will be played in the Appleton high school gymnasium Friday night between the Freshmen team of Appleton and Neenah high schools. The game will start at 8 o'clock. There will be no admission charge.

Announcement was made by Coach Denney that he has organized a "second team." This team will play second games in which the regular squad is featured. The second team contests will be certain raisers.

Following is the schedule for the second team:

Jan. 12—Oshkosh at Oshkosh.
Jan. 15—West De Pere at Appleton.
Jan. 26—Kaukauna at Appleton.
Feb. 3—Neenah at Neenah.
Feb. 3—Open date.
Feb. 16—Oshkosh at Oshkosh.
Feb. 23—Kaukauna at Kaukauna.
March 2—Neenah at Appleton.

YE FISHING AND HUNTING COLUMN

By M. J. V. Fose

CAN'T SELL GAME FISH

It seems as though the only way to appease that "game fish" appetite is to catch what one can through the ice during the closed season and be careful not to "bug home" after a friend a few and take within the limit or "the warden will get you."

Effective Jan. 1, 1923 the law remains in force until May 29 but that doesn't mean that anglers cannot do any fishing. Any person may fish through the ice and take the legal limit for their own use but they cannot sell, offer to sell, purchase, barter or have in their possession or under control for the purpose of sale or barter any game fish such as black bass, pike, pickerel, muskellunge, etc. The law also states that it is illegal to serve guests or boarders any game fish as specified in the sale prohibition.

Mr. Boomer, conservation warden of Oshkosh made a statement Thursday saying that the closed season for the sale of game fish started Monday and that anyone selling or buying such fish is liable to prosecution for violating the law.

The pike that were recently confiscated at Oshkosh from fishermen coming in off the ice on Lake Winnebago were an exception to the law and rather than have the 300 spoil and be a dead loss, the wardens had authority to sell them to local dealers who, in turn were permitted to dispose of them to the public but with this exception, the law is now in effect.

The closed season also protects deer, squirrel, game birds and any other wild animals, or carcass or part thereof.

Madison—W. E. Barber, chairman of the Wisconsin Conservation commission, resigned effective Jan. 31. Anglers undoubtedly will regret to see Mr. Barber leave the service after all his good work during seven and one half years of service.

ROME INVITES NATIONS TO WORLD TENNIS MEET

By Associated Press
Rome—Italian tennis circles are awaiting with interest the replies of Allied Tennis Federations to invitations extended to them by the Italian Lawn Tennis Federation to send teams to participate in the international Hardcourt tournament to be held in Rome next May.

The reply of Germany already has been received, and is in the affirmative. Kleinroth, who is playing in his best form just now will captain the German team. He is regarded by many experts as the best singles player in Europe at the present time. Count Salin of Austria is expected to lead the Austrians.

The feeling here is that Belgium, England and France will obtain, but that Spain will send over its Davis Cup team, the Alonso brothers, Flaqueur and Count de Gomar.

ELK BOWLERS SPILL MORE PINS; NAVAJOS AGAIN COP HONORS

Quinnays and Mascoutens Lose Games Though They Out-bowl Opponents

ELKS THURSDAY NIGHT LEAGUE
Navajos 18 6 250
Quinnays 14 2 467
Mascoutens 12 6 467
Winnebagoes 10 14 417
Hurons 6 15 286
Mascoutens 3 15 167

The Navajos strengthened a greater claim to leadership in the Elks Thursday Night league when they again took three games and rolled the highest team score of the evening, topping the pins to the tune of 2460. The Mascoutens bowed to the assault of the league leaders.

Mascoutens spilled 556 pins for the highest individual score in a game. He rolled with the Winnebagoes who humbled the Quinnays by taking two games. The Quinnays lost in games although they bowled a higher total than their opponents.

The Hurons and Mascoutens both down the bottom of the league "had it out," the Hurons taking two games. This was another case where the "better bowlers" lost.

DREXLER AND LA FOND WIN IVORY CONTEST

The team of Drexler and La Fond leaders in the pocket billiard tournament at the Carr and Hansen billiard room, had a narrow escape in the match with Corry and Van Wagonel Thursday night. Drexler and La Fond took the match 100 to 85 but not until the last ball rolled in the pocket was the game theirs.

Drexler and La Fond got a big lead and seemed to have been on the road to a quick victory when, with only a few balls left, the team quit scoring. Corry and Van Wagonel began to creep up at the end of the session, which was featured with many "safeties" and other close playing.

Drexler and La Fond were originally scheduled to meet Liethen and Selig but the latter team was unable to play.

The high run Thursday night was made by La Fond when he strung up 14 points.

Drexler and La Fond have won all of their matches to date.

BELOIT COLLEGE BASKET PERFORMERS BEGIN DRILL

Beloit—Beloit college basketball performers began regular practice Wednesday after 10 days layoff. The college plays Cornell at Mt. Vernon Jan. 12. The following night Beloit will play either Coe at Cedar Rapids or Des Moines University at Des Moines. There is some uncertainty about the scheduling of the Coe game, according to Coach Mills.

Gold players are undaunted by the 22 to 18 defeat at the hands of De Pauw here Dec. 20, but will resume drill determined to hit their 1922 clip on the Iowa division.

LITTLE CHUTE GIRLS TO PLAY DE PERE TEAM

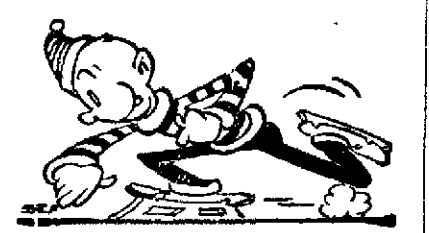

The Little Chute high school girls basketball team will play the East DePere team at Watry hall Friday evening, Jan. 12. The lineup for the Little Chute team at the present time, Count Salin of Austria is expected to lead the Austrians.

Skaters Are Passing Up Chance To Put City On U. S. Sporting Map

Few Cities Are Offered Ice Tournaments To Determine Championship Of City—Entries Must Be In By Wednesday Noon

Another day has drifted by and still the number of skaters entered in the first annual ice tournament to determine the city championship is far from expectations. The tournament was organized because of the often expressed wish of crack skaters here for a chance to show what they can do. They wanted an ice derby similar to those held in Milwaukee, Chicago and the larger cities. Now they have a tournament but thus far they are not showing sufficient interest to indicate they were sincere in their wishes.

All entries must be in the hands of the skating editor by noon of Wednesday, Jan. 10. Elimination tournaments will be held Jan. 14 on the

First ward, Jones Park and Fifth ward rinks, and on Jan. 21 at the Third ward and Fourth ward rinks. Three winners in each of the 12 events will each receive a trophy and will race in the finals at Jones park on Jan. 28 for the city championships. There is no entry fee of any kind and the tournament is open to every skater in the city.

NO SKATERS HERE?

If this tournament were held in any one of a dozen other Wisconsin cities there would be so many entries that they could not be accommodated but Appleton thus far has been apathetic. Perhaps the skaters here feel they cannot skate good enough to enter a race. That would be a rather bad situation for a city with the finest skating rinks in the state.

Prizes of skates, scarfs, flashlights and skating equipment valued at $75 will be given to the winners in the races. The more valuable prizes will be given to the winners of the longer races. The ice will be in perfect condition and adequate police protection will be provided to keep the rinks clear of skaters not participating in the races.

Skaters are urged to get in their entries at once so that arrangements can be completed in plenty of time before the first elimination tournament in order to do away with the possibility of confusion. A sufficient number of officials will be at each tournament to handle the races in snappy fashion. Preparations for that work are almost completed.

Fill out the blank printed on the sport page of the Post-Crescent and get it to the skating editor before noon of next Wednesday.

DINNER SPECIALS WANT BASKETBALL GAMES

HUSSANE GETS ONE FALL IN MATCH WITH HILL

Madison—Yussif Hussane tossed George Hill in forty-one minutes with a bar lock at the Gayety theatre Thursday night. Then they wrestled twenty-two minutes without a second fall. In the preliminary, Mike Nason and Abe Kalpan went twenty minutes to a draw.

BASKETBALL QUIZ by Referee

PERSONAL FOULS

If the two captains agree, may the personal foul rules be set aside? Such agreements are sometimes made but have no place in the game. No referee should agree to work under such conditions, as it means much trouble for him. The personal foul rules were made to keep the game clean and help the referee and the officials should see they are lived up to.

TIME-OUTS

If a team does not use its three "time-outs" as is the right of the team under the rules, and the game results in a tie score, can the remaining "time-outs" be used in the extra periods of play? Whatever remains can be used in the extra periods of play, which are merely regarded as a continuation of the second half.

BROWNS OF LUTHERAN LEAGUE UNDEFEATED

The Browns of the First English Lutheran Brotherhood league bumped into the first serious defeat for some time when they lost two out of three games to the White Sox in the bowling Thursday night on the Eagle alleys. The Browns topped the first game and then the work of Block and Radtke in the second stanza gave the hose the second tilt. The final contest was lost by the Browns by two pins. Radtke's 224 score was largely responsible for the White Sox win.

The Tigers routed the Tanks and took two games.

HANDFUL OF PINS DECIDES GAMES IN ARCADE LEAGUE

Traas Sweets Win Three From Senators As Other Quints Wage Close Battles

Games which were decided by a handful of pins featured the bowling of the Arcade league on the Arcade alleys Thursday night.

Possibly, the hardest fought battle was between Behnke and Jense and Hoppy's Sausages team, the latter taking two games. Hoppy's bowlers took the first game by nine pins and the second by 15. Only four pins divided the total units. H. Strutz, clean-up man for the clothiers, took the honors for individual bowling with a score of 580.

Ten pins separated the Dean's Taxi quint and Oaks Candy Kids. The candy men took two games by very narrow margins.

The Senator Cigars played in hard luck when they were robbed of the first game by the Traas Sweets by a single pin. They also lost the other two games.

CAPTAIN BLOOD

by Rafael Sabatini

ADAPT. NEA SERVICE INC.

"It shall be forthcoming. It shall be a loan, which you shall repay us—repay me, when you can." "I shall be repaying you," he hastily replied, "by completing a business understanding. The other doctor was also in the business."

They were approaching the place, the place of the mole. Quickly, but elegantly, Blood expressed his thanks, where he knew that no thanks were due.
"We will talk of this again, sir—tomorrow," he concluded. "You have opened for me the gates of hope."

He was in haste now to be alone. Also he must consult another. Already he had hit upon that other. For such a voyage a navigator would be necessary, and a navigator was ready to his hand in Jeremy Pitt. As a result Blood was betimes that evening in the spacious stockade that enclosed the huts of the slaves together with the big white house of the overseer, and he found an opportunity of a few words with Pitt, unobserved by the others.

"Tonight when all are asleep, come to my cabin. I have something to say to you."
The six months of plantation life in Barbados had made an almost tragic mark upon the young seaman. His erstwhile bright alertness was all departed. His face was growing vacuous, his eyes were dull and lack-lustre, and he moved in a cringing furtive manner, like an over-beaten dog. But the man was still there, not yet dormant, but merely torpid from a surfeit of despair; and the man in him promptly shook off that torpidity and awoke at the first words Blood spoke to him that night—awoke and wept.

"Escape?" he panted. "O God!" He took his head in his hands, and fell to sobbing like a child.
Among the privileges enjoyed by Blood was that of a hut to himself, and they were alone in this.
Sitting close they talked in whispers for an hour or more. They would need to recruit others into their enterprise, a half-dozen at least, a half-score if possible, but no more than that. They must pick the best out of that mass of survivors of the Monmouth men that Colonel Bishop had acquired. Men who understood the sea were desirable. But of these there were only two in that unfortunate gang, and their knowledge was none too full. They were Hagthorpe, a gentleman who had served in the Royal Navy, and Nicholas Dyke, who had been a petty officer in the late king's time, and there was another who had been a gunner, a man named Ose.

"Caution, above everything," was Blood's last recommendation to him at parting.
Coming next morning to the wharf, Blood found Dr. Whacker in a generous mood.

"It's not money I'll require," said he, "but the boat itself. For who will be selling me a boat and incurring the penalties in Governor Stead's proclamation? You'll have read it, no doubt?"
Dr. Whacker thought a little with tight lips. "I thought of it. You will see that the man who buys the boat must be one of those who goes with you—so that he is not here to answer questions afterward."

"But who is to go with me save men in my own case? What I cannot do, they cannot."
"There are others detained on the island besides slaves. There are several who are here for debt, and would be glad enough to spread their wings. There's a fellow Nuttall, now, who follows the trade of a shipwright, whom I happen to know would welcome such a chance as you might afford him."

"But how should a debtor come with money to buy a boat? The question will be asked."
"To be sure it will. But if you contrive shrewdly, you'll all be gone before that happens."

So well did Blood take him that within an hour he contrived to see Nuttall, and found the fellow as disposed to the business as Dr. Whacker had predicted. When he left the shipwright, it was agreed that Nuttall should seek the boat required, for which Blood would at once produce the money.

At the end of some three weeks Nuttall informed him that he had found a serviceable wherry, and that its owner was disposed to sell it for twenty-two pounds. That evening, on the beach, Peter Blood handed the sum to his new associate, and Nuttall went off with instructions to complete the purchase late on the following day, and then bring the boat to the wharf, where under cover of night Blood and his fellow-convicts would join him and make off.

At sunset Peter Blood was hailed by Colonel Bishop. "There's the Governor, with an attack of gout, screaming like a wounded horse. Be off, man—away with you at speed to Government House! Best lend him a horse, Kent, or the lout'll be all night busting there."

They hustled him away, choking almost from a reluctance that he dared not show. The thing was unfortunate, but after all not beyond remedy. The escape was set for midnight, and he should easily be back by then.

He mounted the horse that Kent procured him, intending to make all haste.
"How shall I re-enter the stockade, sir?" he inquired at parting.
"You'll not re-enter it," said Bishop. "When they're done with you at Government House, they may find a kennel for you there until morning."

Peter Blood went off in a state of mind bordering on despair. A postponement of the escape at least until tomorrow night was necessary now, and postponement must mean the discovery of Nuttall's transaction and the asking of questions it would be difficult to answer.

Not until the early hours of the morning did Peter Blood succeed in making a temporary escape from Government House on the ground that he required certain medications which he must, himself, procure from the apothecary.
On that pretext, he made an excursion into the awakening town, and went straight to Nuttall.

"It will be for tonight, instead," he said, with more assurance than he felt, "if I have to bleed the Governor to death. Be ready as last night."

"But if there are questions meanwhile?" bleated Nuttall.
"Answer as best you can. Use your wits, man. I can stay no longer." And Peter went off to the apothecary for his drugs.

Within an hour of his going came an officer of the Secretariat to Nuttall's miserable hotel. The seller of the boat had duly reported the sale at the Secretariat's office.

"You are informed that Mr. Robert Parrell," said the officer, "who conceived that for him this was the end of the world."

"You are in no haste, it seems, to declare the same at the Secretariat's office. The emissary had a proper bureaucratic haughtiness. Nuttall's weak eyes blinked at a redoubled rate.

"To . . . to declare it?"
"You know it's the law."
". . . I didn't, may it please you."

"But it's in the proclamation published last January."
". . . I can't read, sir. I . . . don't know."

"Fudge!" The messenger withered him with his disdain. "Well, now you're informed. See to it that you are at the Secretariat's office before noon with the ten pounds surety into which you are obliged to enter."

The pompous officer departed, leaving Nuttall in a cold perspiration despite the heat of the morning. He thought it very likely that the whole plot would be discovered, and that he would probably be hanged, or at least branded and sold into slavery like those other damned rebel-convicts, with whom he had been so mad as to associate himself.
Nuttall snatched up his hat, and went out in quest of Peter Blood. But where look for him?
Finally he determined to go up to Colonel Bishop's plantation. Probably Blood would be there. If he were not, Nuttall would find Pitt, and leave a message with him. He was acquainted with Pitt and knew of Pitt's share in this business. His pretext for seeking Blood must be that he needed medical assistance.

And at the same time that he set out, Blood was setting out from Government House at last, having so far eased the Governor's condition as to be permitted to depart. Being mounted, he would, but for an unexpected delay, have reached the stockade ahead of Nuttall, in which case several unhappy events might have been averted. The unexpected delay was occasioned by Miss Arabella Bishop.

They met at the gate of the luxuriant garden of Government House, and Miss Bishop, herself mounted, started to see Peter Blood on horseback.

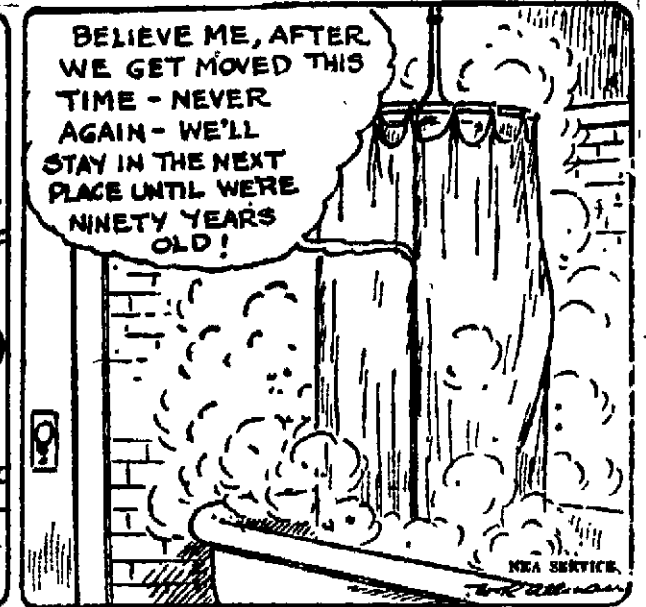

"Good morning, sir," she hailed him pleasantly. "It's close upon a month since last I saw you."

I SPIED TODAY

Keeping up the standard of I Spied Today items is a task which requires the cooperation of every reader of this section. The Post-Crescent wants to make this feature a tabloid report of interesting news happenings and is giving tickets to the Elite theatre to those who will help. "The Night Rose" is the attraction at the playhouse Friday and Saturday. Contributors to the column should watch the paper and call for their tickets immediately after the item is printed.

GREAT ICE SLIDE

At 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, I saw one of Lutz's ice wagons coming along the river road. It got too close to the edge and tipped over spilling the entire load of ice. They succeeded in getting the wagon out of the ditch, but left the ice where it had fallen.

THAT A BOY, BITE THEM

Thursday noon I saw two small boys take some candy from a Christmas tree which was on a porch on North-st. When they were about to make their get away, another small boy across the street barked like a dog. The young rascals took to their heels and ran for dear life. They took the candy with them, of course.

JUST TURN OVER THE KEY

While reading the classified ads this evening I spied an ad for Luabs and Shepherd. This is the way it read: "For Sale, new five room house, full basement. If it's full of the right stuff they ought to be able to sell it immediately."

ARE YOU COLD, HONEY?

They say love is blind, and I am convinced from what I saw in City park Wednesday night that love also is immune to falling snow and cold winds and weather. A young couple was sitting on one of the park benches about 9 o'clock at night while I, in passing, was making top speed to keep from freezing. The two were cuddled up to one another and cooing and billing. "Ain't nature grand?"

N. Y. MERCHANT IS HEAD OF WORLD 'Y'

James M. Speers Succeeds Alfred E. Marling To Noted Chairmanship

The election, just announced from New York of James M. Speers, president of James McCutcheon & Co., then merchants of that city, to the chairmanship of the international committee of the Y. M. C. A. is of special interest to members and friends of the Appleton association because that committee is the general agent of all the 2,000 associations in North America.

This committee is composed of approximately 200 business and professional men of the United States and Canada who, with their employees, staff, direct the service abroad and certain features of the home work of the American associations. Through it these associations carry on work in Europe, Russia, Siberia, Asia, the Near East, Africa and Latin America. Mr. Speers succeeds Alfred E. Marling, former president of the New York state chamber of commerce, who had served as chairman since 1910. Mr. Marling continues as a member of the committee, with which he has been actively associated for 20 years. He has been a member of the Y. M. C. A. virtually all his life.

During Mr. Marling's chairmanship of the international committee, the extension of American association service to foreign countries has had its largest growth. It was also during this period that the American Y. M. C. A. entered upon its service in Europe for soldiers and sailors, prisoners of war and refugees.

SHERIFF TO AUCTION PEAT COMPANY LAND

A portion of the property owned by Appleton Peat Products company, which operates a fertilizer plant for a time at Center swamp, is to be disposed of at a sheriff's sale at 10 o'clock on the morning of Feb. 27 to satisfy a claim of C. A. Lawton company. DePere, manufacturers of machinery. The DePere company obtained judgment against Appleton Peat Products company on Dec. 5 for $232.76 and the property is to be sold to pay this claim.

Made a Hit With Him

"My wife has taken your medicine and has been wonderfully benefited. For over four years she has had trouble with bloating and could scarcely eat any food because of this condition. Doctor's medicines did not help her and an operation was advised. Her brother, who is a druggist, sent her a bottle of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and it helped her at once. I cannot praise your medicine enough." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. For sale at all druggists. adv.

CABBAGE MOVING IN LARGE AMOUNTS

Twenty carloads of cabbage were shipped out of Appleton for the week ending Wednesday, Jan. 3. Most of the shipments went to Chicago and to points in the southwest. It is reported here are still large quantities of cabbage in cold storage in the county, some of which is being held for higher prices. The prevailing price is about $10 per ton.

GIVE 'EM A DRINK

Wednesday evening about ten o'clock I heard a great deal of noise outside of my window. My curiosity being aroused I looked out of the window. There in the middle of the road stood an old rattle trap of a Ford, whose license number I could not see, choking and sputtering like a baby taking medicine. There were two men in it one was trying to get it going correctly. After the two men got in and started to go the lizzie immediately stopped. Both the fellows got out again one on each side of the car. They stood there for quite a while and I was beginning to wonder what was happening when I saw one fellow hand the other a pint bottle. He took a large gulp and handed it back. This man took it and walked over to the sidewalk and kicked the bottle into the snow along the river bank. Then he walked over to the flier, gave the crank a turn and the lizzie started. Both men jumped in and away they went.

CORNS

Lift Off with Fingers

Does it hurt a bit? Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly!

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation. adv.

Mails Contain Marked Decrease in Usual Number of Calendars, Circulated—Popularity as Means of Advertising Appears to Be Waning.

That scarcity of a thing makes it precious is a fact that is again borne out in the matter of calendar gifts. The walls of the average home may have ceased to be decorated with the gaily colored calendars and almanacs they formerly were, but the occupants of those homes seem to be in a predicament about remembering dates and are somehow or other always forgetting engagements.

Time was when one considered himself harassed by the many advertisement calendars he was forced to accept in the mails. Now the daily reminders of the tomorrows and yesterdays seem to be at a premium. A decrease in the number of calendars sent through the mails is noticed at the local postoffice.

The supposition advanced is that some merchants now consider the calendars as of little value and too expensive a proposition. This leaves the devotees of the old-fashioned calendar without new pictures to frame and practically compels them to buy their calendars. Many fine art calendars are to be found at the art and stationery stores.

Invest your evenings in education. It pays. Appleton Vocational Evening School opens Jan. 8th.

Getting Rid of a Stubborn Cough's Childs Play Now

Make the Medicine Yourself At Home It's Cheap—But You Can't Beat It

If you want to take care of that bad, hang on cough and do it in a few hours, better get one ounce of Parment (double strength) and mix a half pint at home.

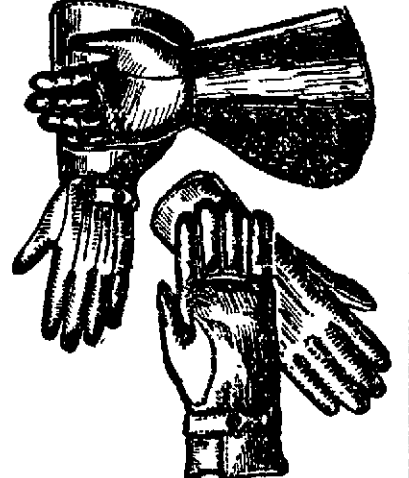

You can do this in two minutes by adding a little sugar and enough water to fill a half pint bottle. You'll travel the world over before you get a medicine that will act so surely and quickly on the mucous membrane of the nose and throat. It halts the inflammation, the tickling sensation stops with the first spoonful, the heavy breathing goes and clean membrane, free from irritation and mucus follows.

For Catarrhal conditions such as mucus droppings, clogged nostrils and watery eyes, it won't disappoint—ask for Parment (double strength). Speak plainly so that the druggist will know exactly what you want. adv.

Voigt's DRUG STORE

We Are Satisfied

That the motorists of Appleton have found that our claims for our newest product, Solite Gasoline, are conservative.

SOLITE GASOLINE

is a light gasoline made to exact specifications to meet the needs of those motorists who want instant response from their engine and who are willing to forego extreme economy to get it.

This confirms the claims we have always made for gasoline manufactured by the Burton Process.

Solite, The Perfect Gasoline, is such a product.

Solite is clean and sweet. It will not corrode your needle valves. Solite burns evenly and clean, driving the piston the full stroke under power. Solite is made by the most modern methods approved by science, the famous Burton Process being employed in its manufacture.

Because every step in its manufacture is under positive control we can guarantee its absolute uniformity as to range of boiling point fractions, volatility, cleanliness and sweetness.

You who use Solite may be certain that every charge is delivering full power and that this power is so distributed as to drive the piston through the full stroke.

It is acknowledged by a high authority in the automotive field that motor fuels obtained by the "cracking" process are distinctly superior to straight run gasolines for use in the modern automobile engine. One of the distinct advantages such a product as Solite enjoys is its freedom from a tendency to detonate, which results in the nerve-disturbing knock which is so annoying to the average motorist.

For a light gasoline it is economical, but in this particular it is not as efficient as its companion, our famous Red Crown Gasoline.

This product is the last word in economical efficiency and our sale sheet shows that those who have been using Red Crown are continuing to use it.

Solite, The Perfect Gasoline, is for those who want something lighter — and for them Solite is the best gas they can buy.

LEGION PLANNING COUNTY COUNCIL OF WAR VETERANS

Clubhouse, Americanization And Athletics To Be Talked At Meeting Monday

Organization of a county council of the American legion will be undertaken within the next few months by Oney Johnston out of the American legion according to plans of the executive committee of the post. Other activities will be developed include a program of Americanization education in citizenship, promotion of amateur athletics obtaining of a county war history, launching of a club house movement and enlarging the membership, attendance and interest at post meetings.

Means of forming the county council will be taken up at the regular meeting of Oney Johnston post in Elk hall at 8 o'clock Monday evening. It is possible that a conference will be called, including representatives from each post in the county. The purpose will be to coordinate the interests and work of all war veterans in the county and to give the Red Cross office here a stronger backing in its work for the disabled soldier.

Officers from one of the posts in the county will be special guests of Oney Johnston post at each meeting according to the plans of Henry J. Pettigrew, commander.

LITTLE IS CHAIRMAN
Bonnell Little, vice commander of the post, has been made chairman of an Americanization committee. He will have four assistants, one in charge of citizenship, another promoting patriotic ceremonies, a third dealing with education and a fourth with legislation.

A campaign of education will be carried out in the schools and through the press in the interest of better citizenship and in teaching the public a more vivid conception of the legion's work and purposes. An effort will be made to arrange proper display.

service of all patriotic days throughout the year.

It is the hope of the post to encourage amateur athletics through a committee which will be appointed for that purpose. This will be done partially through organization of teams and tournaments within the legion and through rewards for activity elsewhere.

Data which are available now but which may be lost later will be compiled under the plan for a county history. A summary will be prepared covering all activities of the former service men of the county during the war and of the work at home in preparation of the county council of defense. Liberty loan drives and other phases. This material will be put into a permanent record form.

While Oney Johnston post does not expect to have a clubhouse this year, the officers aim to promote the work of the post at least enough to purchase the site for such a building. It is expected that an Independence day celebration will be arranged by which to raise part of the funds. Several of the regular meetings of the post during the year will be devoted entirely to special entertainment as a means of stimulating the attendance. No business will be transacted at such times. The social plans also include a summer picnic.

Women Pay, But They Have More Pleasure For Doing The Paying

Opera Singer Declares Professional Women Is Most Independent Of All—Women Pick Their Own Mates These Days

BY MARIAN HALE
"Work," said Cecil Arden, prominent in the younger group of the Metropolitan Opera Company, "is the coin a professional woman pays for her independence."

"Work—and," she amended, "sacrifice."
"It means giving up strings of amusements for others who really can't do without—giving up the ones she loves in order to be with those she must be known among."

"Oh, yes, in our independence we've had to give up that old-world bloom."

MEN PAYING, TOO
"Why?"
"Because bloom was a screen. Now that the screen has been pulled away and we find the troops on the other side, we go ahead with our eyes open."

"Men realize that they have to adopt new tactics. So men are paying, too."

"The professional woman keeps young, well and happy."
"She has her own pocketbook. She can waste. She can buy. She doesn't have to ask or explain to a soul."

"Above all, she can give money or herself, without asking—and is not this life itself?"

"This makes the 'pay' worth while. As to men, work doesn't affect the independent woman's attitude—although sometimes her job may."

IT ALL DEPENDS
"If she works in a nursery, she may ache for men. If she sees men all the time, she may not. It depends on the girl."

"Since time began men have wanted women and women have wanted men."

"But today, I find, that women only take the men they want and not just the men who want them. They take men they want and love, not merely men who can support them well."

"Potentially, this is a tremendous factor, because it is going to end loveless unions. Men may continue to support their wives, but it will build decenter men and firmer marriages."

"These days men not only have to have something to get wives—they have to be something."

"I think this condition will increase in 'worth-whileness.'"

"What if woman does pay?"
"What if she does pay more for her escapades, more for her clothes, more for her mate, than man pays?"

"It makes her deeper to pay, for the character stuff you get by paying is the only kind that characterizes you."

"Morality? Frankly now, is it not a case of how one is tempted? Morality is individual, not relative."

"But as for the professional, the independent woman, she has more chance to know whether she has the right fiber. And for the don't-care, she doesn't have half the chance for self-testing!"

Adventures Of The Twins

A Strange Ride

Flap-Deedle went up to the Beamy Star because he liked to stay in the sky.

And of course he took the Fairy Queen's wand with him.

Nancy and Nick watched him until he disappeared, then Nick said with a sigh, "We'll have to wish ourselves after him."

"Yes," nodded Nancy, "but Flap-Deedle will see us coming and wave his wand and we'll drop into the sea again."

Suddenly they heard a new voice, or rather a voice they hadn't heard for a long, long time.

"Hello, children," said the cheerful voice. "Cherrie—cheerup! Why so glum?"

Who do you s'pose it was, my dears? No other than Mr. Flippity-Flop, a fairy who wore en—or—mous shoes!

"Why, Flippity-Flop, how ever did you get here?" cried Nancy.

"Just take a look at my feet. Miss," said Flippity-Flop, "and your question will be answered."

Nick laughed. "And do you still carry as many things in your shoes as you used to?" he asked the fairy-man.

"Nothing but feet, now," answered the fairyman soberly. "I emptied my magic shoes before I left home so as to make room for something else. I took out a cooking-stove, and a washing-machine, and an apple-butter kettle, and a talking-machine, and—but there! Whatta you s'pose I was making room for?"

"What?" asked Nancy.

"You two children!" declared Flippity-Flop. "I heard you say you wanted to go to the Beamy Star without being seen. Hop in and I'll take you up."

Flippity-Flop opened a little flap-patch in each of his toes and the Twins hopped in.

GOOD MANNERS

It is no longer customary to require children to say "Yes, sir," or "Yes, ma'am," in answering their elders.

Still, some deference should be shown. Good form is "Yes, father," "No, mother," or "Thank you, Mr. Smith."

Manner is as important as the form of speech. The child should be courteous and respectful in conversation with those considerably older than himself.

LINGERIE

Chinese embroidery is being applied now to lingerie as well as to blouses and gowns. Nightgowns are being made of two or three layers of chiffon or georgette, to give a changeable effect.

FOR SOUTHERN WEAR

One of the most beautiful gowns for southern wear has a bodice of black satin, joined to a skirt of white handkerchief linen. Flirt rose point and French embroidery skirt. A giraffe of gold tulle cloth with many French flowers in pastel shades joins the two.

Remove stones from prunes and cut into quarters. Melt butter and add crumbs; mix cinnamon with sugar. In a buttered dish place a layer of crumbs, over this a layer of prunes, sprinkled with some of the sugar and cinnamon; add a part of the prune juice. Repeat until material is used, having crumbs on top. Bake 25 minutes. Serve with cream or hard sauce.

This is a good way to use prunes already cooked, after part of them have been served for breakfast—a good dessert for the children.

LAYER SANDWICHES

The sandwiches may be made with any kind of filling and consisting of five slices of thinly cut bread: three white and two brown, having a white slice on top and bottom. Butter each slice generously.

A very good filling is cream cheese with chopped olives and pimientos; any kind of cold-chopped meat mixed with salad dressing. Put the five slices together, press, trim off crusts and cut in crosswise slices one-quarter inch in thickness.

MARRIAGE A LA MODE

Each man present at a Spanish wedding party is entitled to dance with the bride, but he must pay for this privilege—literally.

On a table in the center of the room is a pie and after each dance the bride's partner is expected to cut away a piece of the crust and drop a coin inside.

The bride usually wears a black silk gown and a lace mantilla—white only if her family is titled or very rich.

NOVEL FINISH

An attractive trimming is seen on some pink crepe de chine lingerie. It is finished with a fold of fine white net, embroidered in pink circles.

BEST DRESSED GIRL IN PARIS

The best dressed girl in Paris is said to be Mademoiselle Frances Suval, who is also one of the prettiest.

She originates many of her own styles, which are quite sure to become popular fads later.

She is shown above, wearing one of her latest creations, the matching hat-facing and cape collar.

The style is being copied extensively on both sides of the Atlantic.

DEEP WATERS

Chapter 6 — Plunge Into the Romantic

By Zoe Beckley

"When you come back! No—that won't do, Myra," Barrett held her arms in a grip that hurt. "Six months! Are you usually telling me to go home and wait for six months till you come back from the other end of the world and—"

"Now sit down, Johnny, and smoke. It may help you to understand things. Besides, you're hurting my arm. There, that's better. Tell me—is six months too long a wait for me—me?"

"It's six months longer than I can endure life as it is," muttered Barrett, glowering at his cigar.

Myra paused, poised, almost literally on tip-toe of decision with much depending on the outcome. Then she went to her half-packed bag and began putting her work-things in.

"You know, Johnny Barrett, I've always felt that you and I had swapped sexes psychologically. Woman is supposed to act illogically, on temper and impulse. Man's the thinking animal—"

she flashed a smile at him. "Yet here you are, a husky, intelligent male, passionately proposing to me because, forsooth, you are tired of your good wife. Logical sequence! And here am I—"

She walked over to where he was grumping in his chair and laid a pretty, intelligent hand on his shoulder.

"—here am I," she repeated with bantering tenderness. "Very fond of illogical you, but very logically insisting that you have not sufficiently thought out the rash step you contemplate. To make matters sure, I am going away. I'll give you time to cool off and to think—"

Barrett rose and threw his cigar into the fire.

"I'll think it out with you."

Myra shook her head, but her eyes were all softness and pity.

"My mind will be too full of warring Greeks and Turks."

EXCLUSIVE AND DISTINCTIVE STYLES

Serve Hostess First; Correct Rule For Dinner

There are certain rules which hold good in laying the individual cover, whether the meal be breakfast or dinner, which must always be observed. These decrees that plate and flat silver are set one-half inch from the edge of the table, that knives and spoons are laid to the right of the cover, and that forks are laid on the left.

Flat silver is always arranged in the order in which it is to be used, the spoon or fork or knife first to be used being farthest from the plate. At the point of the knife place the glass of water, and at the point of the fork the bread-and-butter plate. The butter-knife is placed either on the right of the plate or on the bread-and-butter plate. The napkin, neatly folded, with its hemmed edge up, should be placed at the left of the plate. Salt and pepper may be supplied individually, but a more general plan is to put them between each two covers.

For breakfast the finger-bowl is placed above the plate or slightly to the right. The host usually occupies the seat at the end of the table farthest from the drawing room, while the hostess sits opposite where she can watch the door of the butler's pantry.

Above the cover at the foot of the table the coffee cups and saucers are arranged, together with the cream-pitcher and sugar bowl, and the stand on which the coffee will rest. Two minutes before breakfast is announced the glasses are filled with water.

The hostess is always served first, as the first person served receives the coldest food.—From the January Designer.

The high hair dress grows in favor. Frequently a profusion of puffs and curls are piled high on the head.

Brands or coils of hair, tightly wound, outline the head at the hairline. This is, of course, an evening coiffure.
